

An offshore structure includes a base, a deck and a plurality of lattice legs extending between the base and the deck. The legs are arranged outboard of the deck and a connection is provided between an inwardly facing face of each leg and the deck.

[illegible]